Firewalk raises money for charities including Frontline

65 people took part in this year's firewalk, raising money for about ten Brentwood charities. The fire lit up the autumn night. People walked across hot embers that were five times hotter than boiling water. As long as people step correctly, they are not hurt. People who have done firewalks say the experience is thrilling and feels similar to walking across egg shells. Many thanks to John Boreham for walking for Frontline.
